

TO QUESTION PASTOR AND FAMILY ON NEW EVIDENCE

OFFICER WINTERS RESIGNS POSITION AFTER 31 YEARS

John Bohnstiel Named to Succeed Him on
Police Force

At the regular weekly session of the city council last evening the resignation of Officer John E. Winters was read and accepted. Officer Winters became a member of the police force in Dixon in October, 1893, and with the exception of being away from duty because of illness, has served almost continuously since that date. He is the first member of the Dixon police department to be retired from service, subject to a pension for his past services as a police officer.

The veteran officer will celebrate his 65th birthday anniversary Sunday, which will also mark his last day of service as a member of the Dixon police force. On this occasion the members of his family will assemble at the Winters home on Hennepin avenue to assist in the birthday celebration.

John Bohnstiel was appointed by Mayor Frank D. Palmer, the council confirming the appointment, to succeed Officer Winters. The senior officer will retire and the new officer will take up his duties on Monday, Dec. 1. Officer Bohnstiel is an efficient officer and one who has had several years of experience in this work. While he has served as special officer for several months on the local department, he was also a member of the Chicago police department before his removal to this city.

Unexpected Action in Rock Island Tuesday
Afternoon

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 26—Scores of leading Rock Island business men stormed the court house this morning volunteering to sign the bonds of Jacob Ramser, retail jeweler, indicted yesterday for murder in connection with the killing of John Connor Looney in an underworld gang fight two years ago in the heart of the city.

The charge is on the strength of affidavits sworn to by Anthony W. Bullock and George Halsample, both convicted some time ago and under penitentiary sentence for the crime in which they allege Ramser was involved.

Bullock and Halsample also sought to involve in the Looney killing J. W. Argus, J. M. Colligan, managing editor of that newspaper, and Thomas Haage, clothing merchant, but the grand jury ignored the charges as to the three latter citizens.

The Argus led the fight against the local underworld, which had control of the city and county government and was running affairs with a high hand, with lawlessness general over the county. John P. Looney, father of the slain youth, and Billburg were leaders of rival underworld gangs, and it was these that clashed the day young Looney was killed. The elder Looney has been a fugitive from justice here for two years and there are a number of indictments pending against him in Rock Island.

Ramser is at liberty on $20,000 bonds. His attorneys are insisting on an early trial for him.

Many Suspected Resorts
in Chicago are Closed

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Nov. 26—Leading forces combining resources of the state's attorney, sheriff and police department, have begun what officials plan to be the most concentrated drive against criminals Chicago has ever known.

Squads last night and early today visited all sections of the city and its suburbs, closing suspected places and arresting caretakers. RAIDERS reported owners of some resorts had locked their doors and deserted the premises.

The expected transfer of detectives from the bureau squads to outlying stations and replacing of them by policemen on the honor roll came when Chief of Police Collins signed an order.

At the same time he said he would ask for at least 200 additional patrolmen.

ENCOURAGEMENT IN ENGLAND AS EGYPT PAYS UP

New Cabinet Expected to Preserve Order in the Country

BULLETIN

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Khartum, Sudan, Nov. 26—The Egyptian units of the Egyptian army have received orders to evacuate the Sudan forthwith. The 4th battalion already has left. The third battalion with artillery will leave shortly.

London, Nov. 26—(By The Associated Press)—Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, British high commissioner in Egypt, informed the British government today that the situation in Egypt was much easier as the result of the respite since the resignation of the Egyptian cabinet. The possibility of serious riots in Cairo and other centers he said, was greatly reduced.

Lord Allenby, it is said in official quarters, believes the Ziwari Pasha cabinet will accept the remaining British demands or open negotiations with Great Britain for settlement of the differences existing between the governments.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Nov. 26—(By The Associated Press)—The events in Egypt now wait upon the completion of the new cabinet, the composition of which is generally regarded as favorably here, as encouraging the hope for quiet acceptance of all the British demands.

Premier Ziwari Pasha is credited with having assured Lord Allenby that he will take the strongest measures to preserve order; all dispatches from Cairo continue to report absolute quiet and the evacuation of the Sudan by Egyptian troops as demanded by the British is progressing.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent however, says the Egyptian incursion into the assassination of the sardar, Sir Lee Stack, is developing tragically owing to the attitude of the Egyptian officials.

The resigned premier, Zagloul Pasha has gone to stay at the Menia House near the Pyramids of Gizeh. Rumor attributes to him the intention of returning from public life.

Late reports say the Egyptian students refuse to return to their studies and that every school in the country is closed in protest against the British measures.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Geneva, Nov. 26—(By The Associated Press)—A telegram of protest against the British action in Egypt following the assassination of the sardar, Sir Lee Stack, was received today by the secretary of the League of Nations from the Egyptian parliament under the signature of the president of that body.

The text indicates that a similar communication has been forwarded to all the world parliaments. The telegram does not request intervention by the league, but is confined to an exposition of the differences with England from the standpoint of the Egyptian parliamentarians.

Constables, although possessing the same powers as the sheriff and his deputies, are neglected in many sections, and have very little work to do. The law provides the same fees for constables as for deputy sheriffs and sheriffs and their powers and duties are practically parallel in most instances.

A great number of counties are recently organized vigilance associations for the apprehension of horse thieves, trespassers, violators of game laws, and other fugitives from justice.

Constables answering summons to enforce the game laws receive not only the customary fee for their services, but in addition to this are entitled to one-half of any fine collected from the offenders. The law grants the same fee to sheriffs, or any peace officer making an arrest for violation of the fish and game code.

Springfield—Farmers in a number of counties are being advised, through their farm bureaus, to seek the cooperation of constables in making arrests for violation of the game and fish laws, and for trespass. This is being urged especially in counties where the sheriff is overworked and offenders are often able to escape, before the officer can arrive on the scene.

A THANKSGIVING OFFERING

Lord, we who set the furrow deep,
And sow the seeds of industry,
For the rich reward that we reap,
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we who have made the anvils

ring,

Who live and work laboriously,

For all the wage our labors bring,

Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we who build with busy hand
Of wood or stone unceasingly,
For whatsoe'er our arts command,
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we who delve in under-earth
Far from Thy sunlight fair and free,
For whatsoever we win of worth,
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we who hoist the training sail,
And plow the green wastes of the sea,

For what our stormy tasks avail,
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we the toilers of the brain,
Who clutch at dreams that cling or flee,

For whatsoever heights we gain,
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we Thy children, small and great,
Beneath Thy care, where'er it be,

The while Thy grace we supplicate,
Give thanks to Thee!

HORN OF PLENTY.

Red Letter Days like Thanksgiving may lose some of their thrill and glamor as we grow older. But it's a comfort to know that there's always a rising generation to whom Thanksgiving is an event of importance not far behind Santa Claus.

Originally when the pioneers were wearing breeches and shooting turkeys with lunderbusses, Thanksgiving was a solemn occasion—a day for thanks that Providence had blessed with abundant crops to preserve them from starvation.

No longer are people grateful for necessities. Thanks are raised only if the horn of plenty disgorges luxuries. One reason is that, while we have business depressions, we no longer have, for contrast, hard times as they thought of hard times in 1873.

The pinch is not as tight, even at its worst. Largely it's a matter of thoughtlessness. If we pause to ponder our material prosperity, unprecedented in any other country or any previous civilization in mankind's long history, we realize that we have reasons galore for thanks. If the early pioneers had had our brand of prosperity, our standard of living, they'd have thought they were passed on to the Promised Land.

America as we have it was born of hardship and human sacrifices. We are the Chosen People. Bring on the turkey—or must it be a bird of paradise before we admit gratitude?

GAMBLERS.

Wall Street Journal describes Citroen, the big French auto manufacturer, plunging at the card tables of the Deauville Casino: "He played with chips rose-colored and with 100,000 francs neatly engraved on each. The rosy tint would only rise to his cheeks when stakes were well over 1,000,000 francs. Opposite him sat Zagrophos, the young Greek ship builder, who in less than an hour and a half won 5,000,000 francs from Citroen. The young Greek was obviously bored, and complained of the gripe."

Your mind jumps back to impoverished Europe. The contrast is ghastly monstrous.

SURGEON.

Kentucky mountaineers usually sit up and watch with interest while they are being operated on, says Dr. S. C. Smith of Ashland, Ky. In his hospital 85 out of 100 operations are performed while the patient is conscious and watching. "Freezing" and other local anaesthetics take the place of more dangerous inhaled ones.

Only a few generations since patients, tied to the operating table, screamed while legs were sawed off. The invention of anaesthetics was one of the greatest blessings, even though it did permit a lot more operations than are necessary.

COOLIDGE IS UNCHANGED.

It is announced with what appears to be official sanction that there will be no "new" Coolidge as a result of the election and the beginning of a new term by the president in his own right.

Where the idea was born is unknown, but for several days Washington correspondents had a spasm of playing up a new kind of Coolidge who was to appear, rising behind the avalanche of ballots of November 4.

Thus far we have seen nothing of Coolidge, the successor of Harding, that differs radically from Coolidge, the governor of Massachusetts. Even if we were to drop from consideration the fact that men do not change much in their courses after they have reached the age of the president, we can not discard the thought that processes that brought success as a governor of Massachusetts and a majority of about 8,000,000 votes as president are not likely to be thrown aside to give place to a "new" Coolidge.

There may be a new air about the new congress, for if the election returns indicated anything it was that the voters have tired the kind of leadership that has developed through the bloc system of government in the legislative branch, and that more confidence has been placed in the president as a result of his common sense attitude and his immovable position in favor of governmental economy, regardless of the congressional spendthrifts.

BOOTLEG.

Before prohibition 25 million Americans were "regular drinkers," compared with only three millions now, claims Wayne Wheeler, lawyer for the Anti-Saloon League.

He must be clairvoyant, for it is obviously impossible to estimate such figures with any approximation of accuracy.

The number of drinkers, however, doesn't count as much as the amount they drink and the quality of their firewater.

U. S. District Attorney David Hart estimates that Washington, D. C., has a bootlegger for every 90 residents.

DEADLY.

A radio signal from Wales crossed the Atlantic and exploded a flashlight powder in New York.

The process was roundabout and required a receiving apparatus at this end. But it opens startling possibilities. Picture a future war with artificial lightning sent by radio against an enemy army. The decadents of science would be tickled to death of discover such a weapon.

PRICES.

Prices are rising again, all over the world. In England the average of wholesale prices is 12 per cent higher than a year ago. So on, in various countries. It means higher cost of living for the world's people. But it also means increased incomes for them—and easier payment of war debts.

Low cost of living and prosperity have been divorced.

CALAMITY.

Cheap money (low interest rates on loans) is a "grave danger," claims the economist of a big eastern bank. He fears it will start a flow of funds from central markets into farm land speculation.

Maybe so. But we've an idea the farmer will not view this as dangerous as high loan rates that often drive him to the wall.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON

My Dear Syd: I can't tell you how disappointed I was when I received your wire. You know I really expected to find you here when I arrived, but if you are coming in the last of the week, as you promised, I'll forgive you this time.

You didn't say what was detaining you. I hope it is business and not illness. You didn't look very well the last time I saw you.

Enclosed in this you will find a letter from Paula Pierier. That girl is the most surprising piece of the female species I have ever encountered.

Do you really think she meant what she said or was she only bluffing when she dared me to show the letter I am sending to Leslie?

She seems to have transferred all the affection she ever had for me to my wife. Now isn't that a situation for your life!

Some of these funny men who are always cartooning and joking about

"How these women love each other" should read that sentence in Paula's letter where she says of Leslie: "It is not to you, John Prescott, that I owe my belief in a God and a feeling that somewhere, some time, some way everything will be right, but to your wife."

Syd, I think that next to Leslie, Paula is the best woman I have ever known. Does that sound strange? She is a much better woman than I am a man. Her only folly as far as I have seen in the years I have known her is that she allowed herself to love such a good for nothing fellow as I am.

You know, old chap, that no one in the world knows my shortcomings as well as I do myself. I know them all and I never lie to myself about them. I never lie to you about them and today I have written to Leslie and made a clean breast of them. I am never able to talk about my shortcomings to Leslie, however,

I always get angry—not so much at her as myself—but it comes to the same thing, it hurts her. I think, however, I also have some good points, for otherwise two such women as Leslie and Paula would not have loved me, and such a splendid old dear as you would not be my friend through thick and thin.

You called the turn, Syd, when you said that probably Paula would take back her offer of half her salary for little Jack, although I think now she has a Jack, although I think now she has a very good excuse for not doing so. Her best bet is to forget him as well as me.

Did you ever know anyone that had changed as much as Paula? From being a fun-loving, irresponsible little minx, she has become a splendid, serious woman. She seems to have found herself.

I did not write to you much about Alice for I thought I would see you soon and then I could tell you all about her. Honestly, Syd, I think she is going crazy.

I wonder just what it is that pushes the brain from sanity over the border-line to that place where madness lies. Really and truly, while I was angry enough at Alice to shake her when she objected so outrageously to her father's will, I could not help but find her exceedingly interesting.

She was really a new kind of human being to me. I have thought of her and her moods many times since.

I am exceedingly sorry for Karl Whaley. Having known and loved Leslie, to have had such a terrible thing happen to him as to have married Alice, is something that I am sure he does not deserve.

Talked with Ruth Burke over the phone yesterday. She at least seems to be very happy. Walter Burke seems very proud of her and lets her do what she wants to.

Mrs. Atherton said to me yesterday that Ruth had told her that she was still going to keep up that lingerie shop. I don't see how Burke can do this for you know he is a multimillionaire. Of course, Ruth has made a great success of the shop.

but Mrs. Atherton said that already she has heard much gossip and censure of Burke for allowing his wife to work. Ruth spends at least four hours a day there.

It was all very well for Ruth to do it when she had to, but now when she can have everything she wants in the world it looks as though Burke was rather mean and stingy.

People are saying that he furnished the capital to get the thing started. I do not know anything about that but I do know that someone furnished the money, for Leslie kept $2,000 thousand dollars in her wall safe for her until she was able to get things going. We had kind of a mix-up about it, and I was in the wrong as usual.

The gossip says, however, that Burke sent her this money purely as a business investment, and now because it is doing so well he doesn't want to give it up even if his wife must give a great deal of her time to it to keep it going. I can't understand this in any man.

I know I would feel pretty mean to let Leslie carry on a business when my income is what it is now, and Burke has ten times as much as I.

By the way, did you ever hear that Harry Ellington had a sister? As well as I knew him I had no idea of it. Ruth Burke says she is a very lovely girl. She is now staying with the Burkes, but I think she is going over to Leslie's. The girl wants to be independent and Leslie thinks she will very soon have to have someone to begin teaching little Jack.

I am learning new things about women every day. Here is this one about Leslie and Ruth conspiring to do something for the sister of Harry Ellington, whom Leslie hated like poison and who humiliated Ruth and nearly broke her heart.

I am sending Mrs. Atherton to Pittsburgh tomorrow and I am going over to have dinner with Ruth and Walter tonight and look the girl over, and if I think she will do I am going to send Zoo Ellington—that's her name—with her.

I hate to let Mrs. Atherton tackle Pittsburgh and the plant alone, as I am afraid she is going to have some personal trouble in that city. It looks to me as though it were waiting for her. I'll tell you all about it when you get here.

Must stop now for I am going to have a wind-up conference this morning with the Directors of the Acme. Now that I am going to leave this place it rather tugs at my heart. After all, they have been mighty fine to me, and I am taking on a big load of responsibility, a load which already makes my back ache although I haven't done much but think about lifting it.

Just before I came away Leslie told me to give you her best love. She says that she thinks now she will probably see you more often than she did when you were so near us here.

Until I see you, JACK.

Co-Op. Marketing Urged on State Fruit Growers

Carbondale—Cooperative marketing applied to the fruit growing industry in Illinois would place the grower in a much stronger and more stable economic position, Professor J. W. Lloyd of the University of Illinois, told members of the southern Illinois Horticultural society here at the annual meeting of the organization.

Professor Lloyd described the results of a study which he made this summer of the cooperative associations in the west.

"The outstanding feature of Pacific coast marketing methods is the predominance of cooperative marketing," Mr. Lloyd said. "In spite of the popular notion to the contrary, the law of supply and demand in relation to prices is still in operation. Cooperative marketing does not result in monopoly prices. Wherever went

I was impressed with the fact that prices answered the law of supply and demand. Prices were relatively high when the crop was large, low when the crop was small.

"However it is true that organized marketing, as carried on by the cooperative associations on the Pacific coast, results in much more uniform distribution of the products as to time and place than could be obtained by any other means, and results in prices to the grower that are higher than could be obtained by any other method, in spite of the fact that the prices in seasons of heavy production are low."

"A growers' marketing organization, no matter how thoroughly trained its sales force may be, cannot sell lemons in large quantities when the season is cool. It can however regulate the supply of citrus reaching the market during a cool spell, saving in the warehouse large quantities that will be in demand when the weather turns hot."

P.O. STATION
NOW LOCATED IN STATE BUILDING

Secretary Emerson Has Placed Sub Station
in Capital

Springfield, Ill.—The efforts of Secretary of State Louis L. Emerson to secure the establishment of a post office at the Illinois state capitol for the exclusive handling of state mail have succeeded. After five years of negotiations and delays, a postal sub-station has been opened in the rooms on the first floor of the state house formerly occupied by Memorial Hall. It is the only state capitol postoffice in the United States.

For many years the Springfield post office has been struggling with the mass of state mail which flows in and out of the capitol every day. About 20 per cent of all incoming mail goes to the state government, and the percentage of outgoing mail from the capitol is much larger.

Secretary of State Emerson, whose office alone sends some $100,000 a year for postage, attacked the problem soon after he assumed office. By securing a special ruling from the postoffice he was able to combine the automobile license certificate with the automobile plates under one folder, thus materially reducing the number of pieces of mail from the automobile department. Incidentally this saves the state about $20,000 a year in postage.

He also made arrangements for the distribution of automobile blanks, in large quantities through public officials, thus reducing the mailing out of blanks to individuals.

But while this helped the Springfield postoffice it did not solve the problem and Mr. Emerson, about five years ago, began a movement to secure a postal sub-station in the capitol segregating state mail from city mail.

At first the crowded condition of the capitol prevented him from securing room for a sub-station. Finally, however, he obtained permission from the government for the innovation, and the removal of Memorial hall to the Centennial building provided the space.

The quarters have been remodeled and the sub-station is now in operation. It will speed up the mail and obviate much cartage expense.

This sub-station will handle more mail each day than is handled in many important cities of Illinois.

State Dept. of Labor
Warns Against Optimism

Springfield—Advises against too great reliance on the "prosperity boom," which has followed the presidential election; the state department of labor asserts the "depression is not changed into prosperity in a month or two or three," and that "thousands of people of this state have been without jobs and still are."

Industrial leaders seem to be practically unanimous in their judgment that a period of rapid expansion is right at hand," the department says. Good reason does not exist for believing that improvement is just ahead of us. Industry in the past has fluctuated more or less regularly in a cycle of expansion and contraction and we have had more than a year of declining business, checked only by moderate seasonal swells.

Light a Harvester Cigar

De Luxe 15c

"Moreover the psychology of the business community is a most important factor in influencing the direction of the curve of commercial activity, and now it is manifestly favorable to a rise.

"But in our abiding optimism about the coming of better days, let us not lose sight of the realities of the situation. Depression is not changed into prosperity in a month or two or three, and we have been experiencing something of a depression. Throughout the summer and fall thousands of people of this state have been without jobs and still are. Last month our survey showed that there were fewer people at work in the factories of Illinois than there were on the average in 1922, when we were just shaking off the harrowing effects of the depression of 1920-21. October, 1924, in Illinois was the worst October in four years.

"It may shock some to learn that in meat packing, iron and steel, and men's clothing, three of the leading industries of the state, there were fewer persons at work than in the lowest depths of the last depression.

"We have not the desire to throw cold water on the heated enthusiasm about better times, but it is our duty to point out that the belief that prosperity is at hand is quite a different thing from the realization of it. Industry has a long way to go before all of the needy unemployed have been absorbed by the factories. An increase of three per cent in employment for the entire range of factory employment in any one month is quite extraordinary. But successive increase of 3 percent for 6 months would be needed in Illinois in order that employment in the factories should reach the level of the middle of 1923.

HERMAN SEARLE HEADS WELFARE CON. OF STATE

Officers Were Elected at Session in Moline Monday Evening

Moline, Ill., Nov. 25.—Sherman W. W. of Rock Island, assistant director of the Illinois Department of Public Welfare, today was elected president of the Illinois Welfare Conference which closes its annual convention here this evening.

Aurora is favored for the 1925 convention although no definite selection has been made. The decision will be made during the next few weeks by the officers and executive committee. Other officers were chosen as follows:

First vice president, Rev. Moses D. Ley, head of the Catholic charities Chicago.

Second vice president, C. C. Wagner, Springfield.

Third vice president, Mrs. Adeline Banks, Aurora.

Executive secretary, Miss Mary Imeeter, Waikiki.

Executive committee, Katherine Haugher, Canton; Sophie Pindexter, Marion.

Divisional chairmen were selected as follows: Children, C. V. Williams, Chicago.

Corrections, Jesse L. Deck, Decatur.

Family, Mrs. Jessie Ausmus, Aurora.

Mental Hygiene, Dr. Sidney Wilgus, Rockford.

Health and Physical Handicaps, Dr. H. N. Pollard, Quincy.

Conference Extension, R. J. Battis, Springfield.

Community Development, Michael J. Dunn, Aurora.

Crime is not directly caused by nor heredity, environment or ignorance, the Rev. Peter Crumbley, meek chaplain at Joliet Penitentiary, told the Probation Officers' Association last night. Lack of respect for authority, especially by parents, is the principal cause, he said.

Child labor, problems of the illegitimate child and medical aspects of child care were discussed today.

Publicity Denounced

Brutal publicity of court proceedings was denounced by Professor Ernst Freund of the University of Chicago law school as a poor method of "establishing the future of the illegitimate child."

Professor Freund declared the child born out of wedlock should not be taken from its mother unless socially necessary. He said the attitude of society toward illegitimate children is cruel and brutal.

Resolutions were adopted urging revision of the child labor laws of Illinois.

Momentary impulses, said Dr. C. F. Read, state alienist, are often the cause of abnormal behavior. Dr. Harold S. Hulbert, Chicago alienist, gave an address on mental hygiene in which he referred to the battles waged in court by alienists.

Husbands' Mothers

Too many women are their husbands' mothers. Mrs. F. W. Dummer, wealthy Chicago social service worker told the probation officers. "The men," she said, "become dependent upon a mother from childhood and never get over the habit."

Mrs. Jessie Ausmus of Bloomington was elected president of the Illinois Probation Officers' Association. W. S. Badger of the St. Charles School for Boys was named secretary-treasurer. Judge Roger Chapin of Springfield, judge of the Sangamon County Probate Court, was elected president of the Illinois County and Probate Judges' Association.

WALL STREET IN REACTION DURING DAY

New York, Nov. 25.—Stock prices moved within narrow and irregular limits at the opening of today's market. Texas Gulf Sulphur advanced 11 1/4 points to a new year's high and large fractional gains were recorded by American Sugar Refining, Mack Truck and Studebaker. Rock Island, U. S. Steel common and Central Leather were heavy.

The main price movement continued upward with chief speculative interest centering in the specialties. Virginia Carolina Chemical preferred advanced 4 points; U. S. Realty common 2 1/2 and preferred 2; Brown Shoe 2 and American Can, Fisk Rubber, Western Union and Atlantic Coast Line were among the many issues to gain a point or more. More than a dozen new 1924 highs were established in the first half hour including United Cigar Store, North American, Goodyear preferred and Chicago &

Northwestern preferred. Foreign exchanges opened easy.

Reactionary Tendencies

Heavy selling of American Can, based on official denial that a stock dividend or any change in capitalization were under consideration, caused a break of more than 4 points in the stock to 147 3/8 and led to a renewal of reactionary tendencies. Prices throughout the list tapered off with United States Cast Iron Pipe, General Electric and U. S. Alcohol selling two points under yesterday's close. Previously 27 new high records had been established when the market threw off its early hesitancy and prices swept forward temporarily under the impetus of a rally in Rock Island to 44 1/4 and further accumulation of sugar and oil issues. Several low priced rails scored substantial gains. Trading continued at a swift pace, sales in the first half hour approximating 550,000 shares. Call money opened 2 1/2 percent.

COMPLETE CENSUS
ILLINOIS FARMS
IS TO BE TAKEN

Work to Start Dec. 1 and Continue Until February 1

Springfield—Complete agricultural statistics for Illinois will be obtained through an agricultural census which will be taken in this and other states under the United States Census Bureau, December 1 to February 1, according to A. J. Surratt, agricultural statistician here. The census is an "extra" being taken midway between the regular population censuses because agricultural conditions in 1920, the year of the last regular census, were abnormal.

The tabulation this year includes only that information relating to agriculture. The amount of produce of all kinds, including corn, grain, fruit, butter, eggs and other products of the farm produced in 1924, will be tabulated for each farm, as well as whether the land is being rented, how much is devoted to pasture, how much to crops, and how much is idle. Farm debts, farm values and farm population will also be included.

Because of inadequate appropriations, the utmost economy will be practiced in the administration of the census. Illinois has been divided into six districts, the compiling of returns to be in charge of one man in each district. Fifteen to twenty counties are included in each district, and four to six census takers will be employed in each county.

Sample blanks have been distributed through the mails to familiarize farmers with the questions to be asked, Mr. Surratt said.

"Inasmuch as this census is compulsory, the government has taken that step as an aid to the enumerators later," he declared. "Farmers need have no fear about giving the correct information when asked, because every precaution has been taken to keep the information confidential, including the agreement of the census bureau that no individual farm data will be learned by any except census takers who are sworn to secrecy on penalty of fine. The information will

Y CONTROL
F TREES PLAN
OF ILL. LEAGUE
s Law Gives the Municipality Power to be Boss

ngfield—Beautification of cities through city control of all along the public streets, for there are laws on the statute book being brought to the attention of various cities by P. L. Phelps, III., scientific forester, hired by the Illinois Municipal League.

providing shade," Mr. Phelps says, "would be as much a municipal function as providing lights or sidewalks. Certain satisfactory results, it is believed, necessary that the city own and control all street trees.

Nothing adds more to the beauty attractiveness of a city than its shaded trees. This fact has long been recognized, and for many years communities have been planting trees on their property in an effort to beautify that part of the city in which they live. This individual effort has been attended by a rather large degree of success, due to poor selection of varieties and incorrect methods of planting.

In making his selection, the householder usually chooses quick-maturing trees, such as poplars, soft-woods and box elders, which look handsome while young, but quickly become broken and decayed. Then, each householder makes his own selection, and instead of long streets in variety, we have at present a jumble of many varieties, some wide, narrow, others short and condensed, and frequent treeless spaces.

Trees, poor at best, have had more and more in many cases, been victims to the mutilation of liners who prune the tops and back without the slightest regard for beauty and symmetry of the trees.

The light and telephone lines are a constant hazard, and care should be taken in choosing them that the trees do not get tangled.

As a result of the poor selection of trees and the lack of care the trees in the majority of our city streets are a most ragged and unsightly disgrace.

Beautiful trees make a beautiful attractive city. A city without beautiful trees is barren and devoid of charm and repels rather than attracts the

LUXURIOUS WRAPS WHICH HAVE BEEN CREATED FOR MILADY TO WEAR THIS WINTER

New York—The fur coat season is before us.

The annual temptation to take the money out of the savings account or to mortgage the old home for all it will bring and invest in ermine, sables and seals must soon be yielded or conquered.

To the strong, these photographs will mean little, but to the weak they show conclusively how much easier it is to be irresistible in fur than in fabric.

Wraps this season are very luxurious indeed, because gowns are so simple. And furs are now so skillfully handled that they are as soft as satin and may be draped as easily.

The richest of these garments is the white ermine wrap with the pointed hemline outlined with crosswise petals and ermine tails. Numerous little animals laid down their lives for it and brought it up well into the thousands in value. It is lined with silver cloth.

Moleskin, of greater interest this season than for several years, makes the other full length garment that gives the effect of being arranged in folds. A huge scarf collar knotted about the throat and falls down the back giving the effect of a cape. The moleskin model would see one nicely wrapped closely about the neck. The pockets finished with long tassels of gray silk relieve the straight line in front and give a touch of individuality to the garment.

The short coat of this season may be strictly tailored or no very straight box lines, or it may have certain concessions to femininity as the models show.

The very short one, suitable only for the mildest weather, is of chinchilla dyed squirrel with wide flowing sleeves and a surprise fastening. The chinchilla model would see one nicely wrapped closely about the neck. The pockets finished with long tassels of gray silk relieve the straight line in front and give a touch of individuality to the garment.

Bobbed hair in this generation may mean bald, bearded women in the future, according to the American Wholesale Beauty Trade Association.

One Game Left on the Schedule of Each of the Teams

Compton—Clifford Archer who is teacher of the Geo. P. Miller school gave a box social at his school, the net proceeds of which amounted to $69.89.

J. S. Archer was in Chicago last week purchasing goods for his store.

There were special Thanksgiving services at the church Sunday morning. The two anthems by the choir which were prepared for the occasion were appreciated very much as well as the Thanksgiving sermon by Rev. Fricks. The subject of the sermon next Sunday morning will be "Concerning a Minister."

Mrs. Nellie Sweet returned the later part of the week from a four weeks' visit with relatives in Iowa.

Mrs. John Galisett of Rockford is visiting this week with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Otterbach.

H. M. Chaon has closed—a deal whereby he becomes the owner of eighty acres of land, formerly owned by Chas. Clark, lying northwest of West Brooklyn. This tract of land known as "Muskrat" has always been a splendid hunting ground for wild geese and ducks and Mr. Chaon will use it for that purpose. He expects to set much of the land in berries and restock the ponds with fish.

The "Mid Iron" Golf tournament which was playing off Sunday was won by Prof. D. C. Thompson. J. S. Archer and S. O. Argravies were in the finals. The prize given was a "Mid Iron."

Emil Haefner was one among the first from the "flats" to report that he was through corn husking.

Jean Thompson of Steward spent Sunday with his brother here, Prof. D. C. Thompson.

John Schmidt is now driving a new Overland touring car.

Wm. Stainbrook is holding a closing out sale on December 4th and will move to Dixon where he has purchased a home. He expects to move soon after the sale is over.

Mr. and Mrs. Stainbrook have lived at their present location for a long time with the exception of two years when they

Mr. Cash auditor for the C. B. Moore lumber company was here from Mendota Thursday looking after business matters and was a dinner guest at the home of the local manager, C. L. Ogilvie.

Mrs. D. C. Thompson spent the day Saturday with friends in Aurora.

Mrs. Florence Pool and daughter, Vera May, of Dixon, visited home friends here over the week end.

Prof. D. C. Thompson and brother Jean, were Chicago visitors Saturday.

The Compton Woman's club will hold their next regular meeting in their club room Wednesday evening, Dec. 1. An interesting program is promised.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church will hold their annual bazaar in the church parlors December 6. Come and bring your friends with you.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

With but one game left to play the Green River conference basketball schedule is almost over. Compton kept up their record Friday by beating Steward high school 10 to 1. The game was played in the rain and the court was too slippery for basketball. Montavont replaced Kutter when the latter twisted an ankle.

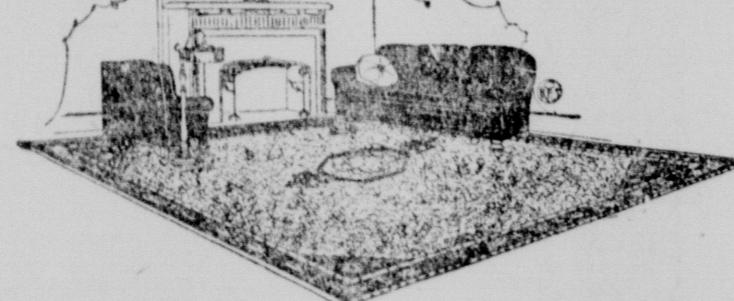

Monday evening the team met Paw Paw at Paw Paw. The weather was anything but favorable for real basketball but the locals were too strong for Paw Paw, winning by a score of 15 to 3. Kauffman replaced Kutter when he hurt his ankle again. This game brings the season record to ten wins out of eleven played.

Compton and Lee are still tied for the lead and in case the former wins from West Brooklyn and the latter from Paw Paw, a deciding game will probably be played at Steward to decide the championship of the conference. The game will be played Friday, Dec. 5 if the weather permits and will decide which team is due to receive the beautiful trophy that is to be given to the champions of the conference basketball schedule.

2,000 BABES BORN IN SUBLTE DURING PAST DECADE

Unusual Record Made at Angear Hospital in Past Ten Years

Sablette—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sablette of West Brooklyn have a baby boy born Nov. 22 at the Angear hospital.

Miss Marcella Happ of Mendota had her tonsils and adenoids removed by Dr. Angear Thursday morning.

On Monday, Dec. 1 will be the tenth anniversary of the use of twilight sleep as given in the Angear hospital. Since Dec. 1, 1914 nearly 2,000 twilight sleep babies have been born. This institution with this form of child birth has produced the lowest death rate of mother and infant of any known method in existence today. Twilight sleep like any new enterprise must receive its criticisms from the misinformed, but regardless of this its correct use is being more extensively used every day. It is used exclusively in the Barnes hospital of the Washington university located in St. Louis, Mo., also in Minneapolis, New York, Los Angeles and Chicago. Lucille Koehler who lives near Sublette was the first twilight sleep baby born at the Angear hospital.

Miss Lorena Full of Dixon spent Sunday with home folks.

Dr. C. Leffelman spent Sunday in Aurora.

Gilbert Oester left for Chicago last week where he has a fine position as bookkeeper and stenographer.

Huff Denies Stories of Discord Among Players

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 26.—The election of Harold "Red" Grange, star half back of the Illinois football team, was an answer to stories that his mates sulked because he received too much glory, according to George Huff, director of athletics at the University. He denied that there had been any dissension among players or coaches during the past season.

"The facts are that the season has been one of the most harmonious in our history," said Mr. Huff. "The stories that have been circulated of trouble between Coach Zuppke and various players, are lies."

ALL OUT OF SORTS

So Was This Dixon Woman Who Tells Her Experience.

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Physicians have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Dixon case is one of many:

Mrs. Wade Pierce, 107 Water St., says: "After I had the flu, bearing down pains took me in the small of my back. When I bent over to pick up anything, sharp, stabbing catches took me across my kidneys and I just felt all out of sorts. Often times dizzy spells came over me and my kidneys acted too often. I used Doan's Pills and they rid me of the trouble."

FOOTBALL TEAM GIVES SIGNALS WITH "FINGERS"

Boys of State School for Deaf Made a Real Record

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Jacksonville, Nov. 26—Shouting their signals with their fingers, and hearing them, and the blasts of the referees whistles with their eyes, boys of the state school for the deaf here have overcome the handicap of complete deafness and have produced a football team that has made a record better than the average high school eleven of the state.

Last season and this season the team piled up a total of 223 points, against 92 made by its opponents, and won eleven of its sixteen games, in spite of the fact that football has been played at the school for only three years. In 1923 the team defeated Palmyra, Greenfield, Routh high, Auburn, Benton and Taylorville, and lost to Jacksonville, Champaign and the Kansas school for the deaf. This year the team opened its season by avenging itself on Jacksonville 39 to 0 and defeating Pottt high, Beardstown, Macomb and Flora. Champaign and Pana were victorious in their games with the deaf team.

"Organized athletics have produced valuable physical, mental and moral results at the school," Coach Robert Zuppke of Illinois discovered. Circling about the quarterback they watch his fingers for the signals. Each formation is named after a university, numbers are used to indicate the man who is to carry the ball and letters indicate the point in the line which he is to hit. Thus the quarterback flashes "Down R?" the signal for a Notre Dame shift on which player No. 7 is to carry the ball through the point in the line designated as R. The players spring to their positions, another signal and the back shift, or "hep" and the moment that they stop the play is away for a good gain.

The players are trained to watch the referee closely and when he blows his whistle they usually know it, although the referees are requested to raise their arm the moment the ball is dead. Most hearing teams, if they depended on their eyes would be penalized frequently for tackling, blocking and piling on after the ball is dead. The Jacksonville team, however, suffers very few penalties.

Football was introduced at the school in 1921 but it was impossible to arrange a complete schedule that year and the game did not really get under way until 1922. Many of the boys knew nothing at all about the game and before he could start practice Coach Robey Burns was forced to hold classes in the theory of the game, the rules, and the fundamentals were painstakingly explained before any scrimmages were held.

"Organized athletics have produced valuable physical, mental and moral results at the school," Coach Robert Zuppke of Illinois said. "Today we have a real school spirit, a well equipped athletic field known as the 'Illini Field' and well rounded physical conditions among our students. Worthy critics in sporting circles have remarked on the fact that the boys usually play within the rules and aim to play a clean, but hard game. Such competition has proved a strong inducement to discipline and loyalty to the school."

Poster Exhibit Shows Cleverness of Pupils

Louise Guernsey, art instructor, have prepared several beautiful Thanksgiving posters, and many of these are on exhibition at the library this week.

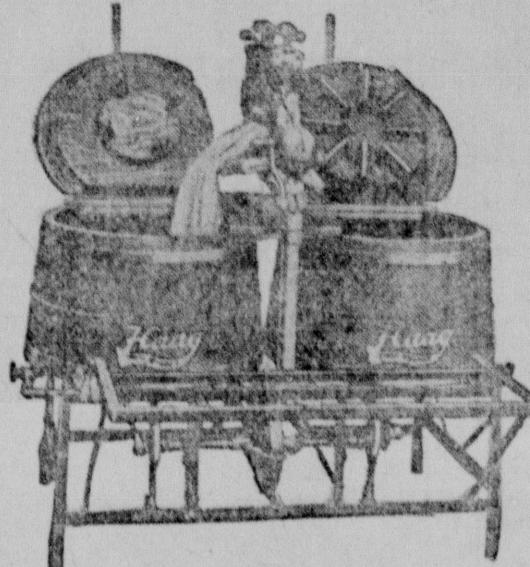

SAID CAN'T BE DONE

"My experience with doctors and medicines caused me to lose faith in both, and when a friend told me that Mayr's Wonderful Remedy would cure my stomach trouble I told him 'It can't be done.' However, he finally persuaded me to try it and to my surprise it did. All symptoms of acute indigestion and gas having disappeared." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and relieves the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists. —Adv.

State May Soon Grow Fine Crops of Cotton

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Cairo, Ill.—Fields white with cotton gins whirling, and a general "southern atmosphere," may be the picture Southern Illinois will present a few years hence if the interest developed in cotton growing during the last year continues to increase. In 1923, 1,100 acres of land in Illinois were planted to cotton, according to A. L. Surratt of Springfield, state agricultural statistician, while in 1924 this acreage had increased to about 16,000, and probably would have been greater had not unfavorable weather in early spring discouraged many prospective planters.

Only a strip across southern Illinois, including Union, Jackson, Massac, Alexander, Johnson, and Pulaski counties, is suitable for the raising of cotton, largely because of the long growing season necessary for a good crop, Mr. Surratt said. This limits the extent to which this new industry may spread in the state, but because the territory where the crop is grown boasts soil and weather conditions generally favorable to a large acre production, there is a strong possibility that cotton may supplant King Corn there. A good cotton crop yields a greater profit than a good corn crop.

People in the cotton district rave gone ahead this year on the assumption that cotton will be from now on a major crop in Southern Illinois. Warehouses have been constructed, cotton gins erected, and other agencies for handling the crop developed on a permanent basis. The talk is all of cotton and the "number of bolls per plant" evokes more interest than the election.

First expectations this year placed the acre production at about 300 lbs. Mr. Surratt said. This has been lowered, however, as a result of too early frosts, and now 200 pounds per acre would be a high estimate. Negroes for the most part do the field work, some on a wage basis, and some on a half and half of crop profit arrangement. Farm Bureaus, the College of Agriculture at Urbana, and promoters are assisting the uninitiated cotton grower in every way possible.

Joliet, Ill.—Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold Jr. have quit posing. They have awakened to the enormity of their crime.

Fellow prisoners have taken the conceit out of them. John L. Whitman, warden of the prison, has quickened their consciences.

Before coming here to spend "life and 99 years," the two young intellectuals simply made a grand gesture at existence. They said they knew no God, no law, no master, no restraint.

But, as guards at the penitentiary will tell you:

"That's a lot of bunk. They're just two fresh kids."

Quite a step-down that, from the role of supermen. Quite a leap from moneyed glory to anonymous station in the city of the "living dead."

Neither Ever Will be a Trusty

"Loeb and Leopold, to me, as the agent of the state to punish and reform them, mean no more than any other prisoners," the warden says.

"They are at the bottom of the scale in grade and will rise under our merit system as they deserve."

"I have put both boys in the chair factory. They are in different parts of the building, however, and do separate work."

"Loeb runs a drilling machine and makes the holes in the bottom of the chairs into which the legs fit. Leopold is in the ratten section and makes the chair bottoms."

"Their next advance is to the new prison. Over there are a number of cell houses where jurisdiction and supervision lessens as the prisoner is advanced. The highest type prisoner is the trusty. He works on our honor farm without guard."

"Loeb and Leopold never will attain this grade. Their crime was too spectacular. Fellow prisoners would set traps for them into which they would fall and incur the displeasure of the prison officials."

"Leopold has had a better chance at adapting himself. He started in making more chair bottoms than ever had been made before in a single day by any other prisoner. But that had to be stopped."

"The other prisoners would have grown to hate him if he had been allowed to continue. They would have 'framed' him."

"It is hard to explain such things to one unfamiliar with prison life. But those who have been around prisons understand them."

He Breaks Their Superman Complex

As keeper of this nameless city, Whitman started to invade the egotism of the two killers as soon as they were admitted.

Whitman has a way with convicts. He has worked with them and for them 35 consecutive years in various penal institutions. More than 200,000 prisoners have passed through his hands.

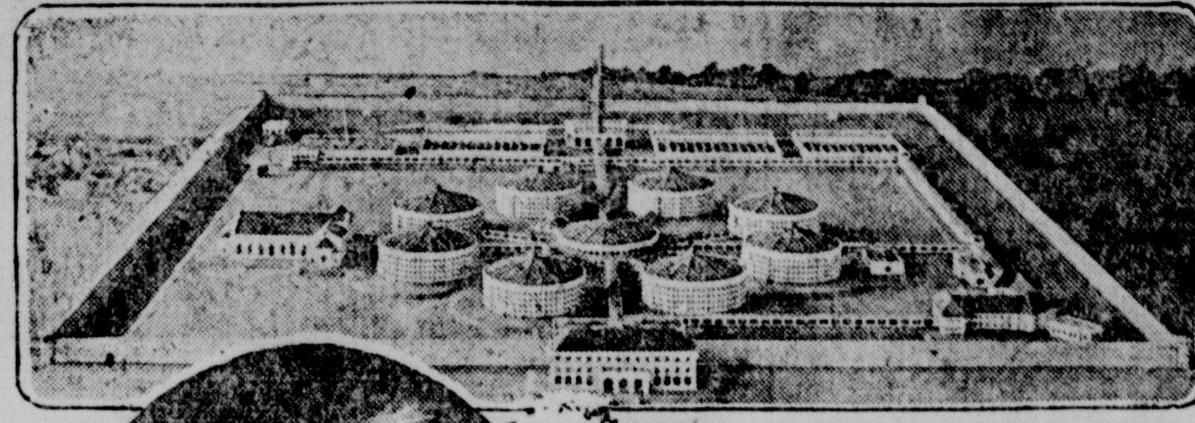

"We will make Loeb and Leopold subservient. Their supermen exaggeration must be broken. They must realize now that it is the people of the state they must obey."

That is what the warden said when they came in. And he has done it.

In achieving his purpose he has resorted to no punishment. In fact, never has he raised his voice.

Whitman is regarded as one of the most influential authorities on penology in the country.

Whatever the future may hold for Loeb and Leopold rests in his hands. The warden expects to make use of Loeb and Leopold as full-time teachers if they prove themselves worthy. But that will be only after the new

LITTLE CHANGE IN EMPLOYMENT DURING OCTOBER

Demand for Corn Huskers Failed to Offset Other Losses

Springfield—Demand for corn huskers in other seasonal occupations failed to offset the decline in food industries and general factory work last month with the result that little if any improvement in the employment situation was noted, according to reports received by the state department of labor.

Danville, Joliet, Moline, Rock Island and Rockford reported improvement of employment conditions, but Aurora, Bloomington, Chicago, Decatur, and East St. Louis reported declines. Quincy reported a slight improvement.

Summaries of the condition, as prepared by free employment offices of the state follow:

Aurora: decline of three per cent in number of persons at work; average earnings rose $1.77 per week for men and $85 for women. Many important factories still working 3 to 5 days per week, with reduced forces; 126 registrants for every 100 jobs; fall building below the average of the last few years.

Bloomington: factory employment declined about 2.8 per cent; canneries laid off the bulk of workers hired during September; corn husking at close of month relieved conditions slightly; hard road work in the vicinity practically complete; industrial building slight but considerable home building; 108 applicants for each 100 jobs.

Chicago: reports from manufacturers indicate a gain of less than one half of one per cent in employment; fall industrial boom apparently delayed; male earnings increased approximately five cents per week while female earnings decreased approximately nineteen cents per week; 100 jobs for each 150 applicants; building the largest since June but lower than October of a year ago.

Danville: registrations declined, and Springfield: employment conditions tended to become worse in Springfield during October; many of the largest firms have laid off men during the month; 125 applicants were available for every 100 jobs.

A yellow apple from the hills of Athens is a new "plant immigrant" received by the United States Department of Agriculture.

demands for workers increased; 240 applicants for each 100 jobs; slight gain in conditions the first in months; corn husking and paving have reduced supply of workers, but food industries have laid off employees;

Decatur: trend mixed; metal industries improved in the matter of employment while other industries showed slight failing off; decline of about 2 per cent in number of employees; 172 workers for each 100 jobs; building operations in 1924 surpass those of 1923; corn husking and the reopening of a hominy plant, long closed are expected to give work to a large number of people.

East St. Louis: number of persons at work declined eight tenths percent; slight expansion in the metal industries with decline in the chemical and food group; 108 applicants for every 100 jobs; building operations at their highest in four years. Joliet: gain of 4.8 percent in level of manufacturing operations; 270 more people employed during October than were working in September; enjoyed most of the expansion; farm orders for workers increasing; 135 applicants for every 100 jobs.

Moline, Rock Island: notable improvement, chiefly in the farm machinery, automobile and accessory industries. Employment index rose 31 percent in Rock Island and 4.3 percent in Moline; hard road building continuing late in year and demand for farm workers increasing; 124 applicants for every 100 positions.

Quincy: reports indicate a gain of approximately 1.3 per cent in employment during October; the metal industries of the city did not share the improvement shown by similar industries in other cities; 133 applicants registered for every 100 jobs.

Rockford: a booming demand for furniture revived industry in Rockford; without exception companies reporting to the free employment office have increased their working forces; the employment index rose 2.3 percent; 1129 workers were placed by the office.

Springfield: employment conditions tended to become worse in Springfield during October; many of the largest firms have laid off men during the month; 125 applicants were available for every 100 jobs.

SKATIN

Grace has its place on the old skatin' rink, where the young and the old join in fun. Of health in real wealth you are right on the brink when habitual skating is done.

Soon comes the call, at the end of the fall, for the glide and the slide on the ice. Grab off the treat. Put some skates on your feet and you'll find that the pleasure is nice.

While strength you're employing and skating enjoying, remember your vigor and vim makes blood circulate and your pulse palpitate and it keeps your old trim.

When outdoor wafts tingle, it's then you should mingle with nature and get the fresh air. That's why I'm suggesting that you be investing in skates for an exercise tear.

IN Sardinia and Corsica

The goat-like Mouflon gropes Around on rocky ledges of
The towering mountain slopes.
It has a monster pair of horns
And stands o'er two feet tall.
The ewes are different in that they Possess no horns at all.

THE Jaguar is cunning and
As quick as he can be.
It has sharp eyes that through the dark
Of jungle lands can see.
It lives upon young animals
That it will quickly seize,
And unlike other leopards it
Can swim around with ease.

THE Chamois is a slender thing
And swiftly travels 'round.
Up in the European Alps
Is where it's mostly found.
It stands just over two feet tall;
Its fur is brownish red.
Two little horns with hook effect
Protrude out from its head.

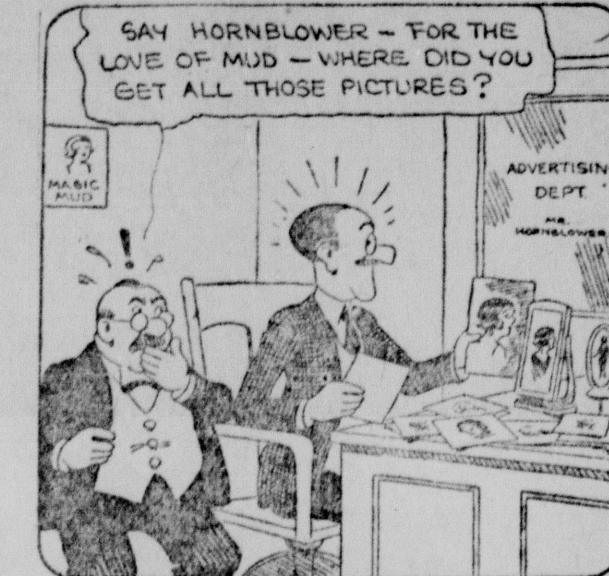

IN parts of South America,
The Tayra makes its home.
In underbrush, quite out of sight,
Is where these weasels roam.
Its color's black and on its neck
A touch of white hair grows.
It's long and lanky, just two feet
From tip of tail to nose.

THE Flying Squirrel's a tiny thing
Of brown and white and gray.
In trees of North America
Is where it likes to play.
It spreads its little legs out flat,
And through the air can skim.
And that's the way it travels in
The trees from limb to limb.

IN Asia and in far Japan
The little Sable dwells.
Its fur is very costly and
In coldest clime excels.
It lives on twigs and berries
When the winter days are raw.
And in the summer feasts on hares
It strikes down with its paw.

THE Eyra is a tiger-cat
That lives in Mexico.
It has large, bright and shiny eyes
That in the darkness glow.
Through jungle brush and swampy spots
It much prefers to ram.
It's something like the little cat
That's found in any home.

BIDS ARE OPENED TODAY FOR MORE STATE HIGHWAYS

Second Allotment Under
New Bond Issue
is Ready

Springfield, Nov. 26.—By The Associated Press—Hard road contractors today submitted bids for the second allotment of roads and bridges under the new $100,000,000 bond issue, approved November 4. Offerings comprised 164 miles of pavement in twenty three counties, 53 miles of grading in four counties, and twenty bridges in five counties.

The first letting under the new bond issue was held November 12, when bids for 285 miles of paving, 9 miles of grading and 18 bridges were opened. Because the vote cast for the bond issue proposition has not been canvassed officially regarding the bond issue approved, the Department of Public Works and Buildings has let none of the contracts. It will likely be two more weeks before any action is taken.

Road sections offered for bids today, were as follows:

Route section 84, DeWitt county, .67 miles near Wapello.

Route 8, section 5, Cass county, .28 miles, near V. R. Virginia.

LAST OFFICER OF
OLD MERRIMAC IS
DEAD IN CAPITALCapt. H. H. Marmaduke
Will be Missed in
Wash. Navy Yard

BY HARRY B. HUNT

NEA Service Writer
Washington—Down at the Washington navy yards is the wreck of an old smooth-bore naval cannon, its muzzle shot away, which has seemed an object of reverent regard to an aged, slender, gray-haired man who visits it from time to time.

Probably the visitor regarded these visits as occasions for communing again with an old pal.

For the gun was one of those mounted on the historic Confederate battleship Virginia, first of the ironclads, better known as the Merrimac, and the stoop-shouldered old man who lingered so fondly over it on his periodic visits was Captain Henry H. Marmaduke, who commanded the gun crew, which was serving it when a shot from the Monitor—the Union "cheese-box on a raft"—put it out of commission.

But today the battered old gun remains the sole survivor of that historic battle to be found in the capital. For 18 months there has been no visit to the navy yard by the old officer.

And on Nov. 15 he died—the last of the officer personnel aboard the Merrimac in the first naval battle ever fought between ironclads.

With his death Washington lost one of the most colorful personalities of the "old days."

Scientific study of the soul has been attempted by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, chief anthropologist of the Smithsonian Institution. And as a result of his scientific deductions to date, Dr. Hrdlicka is convinced that soul is not a quality of which the human race has a monopoly, but extends down through the whole scale of intelligent life, varying only in degree as the intelligence of the various species varies.

"Those who have loved and lost," says Hrdlicka, "know the soul exists. It has been a faith beyond science. But when we come to actual knowledge of it, there is little to be said. 'It is impossible to discover any definite time in the life of a human being, from conception to death, when a life can be drawn on one side of which there is no soul and on the other side of which there is soul.'

"In the scale of life itself there is no definite point at which it can be said that the soul begins to exist."

"Whatever soul may be, it must exist in proportion to mind throughout all nature."

Hrdlicka's deductions are a result of a recent intensive study given to the work of attempting to establish beyond peradventure the evolutionary origin of the human race.

And in this attempt he claims thereby directly challenging William Jennings Bryan, that the theory of evolution not only does not contradict or undermine religious teachings, but places them on a surer, surer foundation.

"If Bryan would drop over to the museum and talk things over with us for half an hour without passion, we would present him with the evidence," Hrdlicka says. "If he has any evidence tending to disprove ours we will be conferring a great benefit on us by letting us know about it."

Broadminded clergymen receive tolerantly the evidence of the descent of man. Unfortunately, they are not the militant ones, who preach against us without knowing what we have to say."

President Coolidge's first visit west of the Alleghenies as president will be a trip to Chicago, early in December, when he will make two addresses. The keynotes of these speeches are expected to be farm legislation and tax reduction, both of prime interest to the country's agricultural metropolis. Charley Dawes, doubtless, will be at the head of the committee to make the president welcome.

OVER HALF OF STATE'S CORN
HAD MATUREDReports Show 58 Per Cent Hard Before
Killing Frosts

Springfield—(By The Associated Press)—When the frost struck Illinois corn fields this year, 58 percent of the crop had already matured, 29 percent was in the dough or hard stage and about 13 per cent in the milk or tender stage, according to the report issued here today by A. J. Surrau, federal agricultural statistician.

"Farm work is well caught up and progressing rapidly," the report said. "Planting was slowed up to some extent until the advent of rains, but this work now is up to average or better. Practically all late crops secured except corn and cotton. Irrigation is now general. Cotton crop favorable though not quite up to previous high expectations. Planting and ginning is well advanced. Fall sown grains greatly improved by the new rain and are looking good. Fall pastures are reënning up again.

"Corn yields vary due to uneven conditions with a prospect of 33 bushels per acre, or below average. Not much soft corn, but considerable yellow. Seed corn supply ranges from sufficient to a surplus. Supply of husks ample as a rule, although a shortage reported in a few localities.

"Less cattle and more sheep are reported on feed than year ago. Hog numbers on farms considerably reduced from a year ago, with the attractive price of corn working to hold up the market movement with consequent further decrease in farm numbers."

Dry mild weather with occasional frosty nights marked the first half of the month, with beneficial rains close generally reported towards the close of the period, according to the report.

GERM OF DIVORCE
STARTS LONG BE-FORE MARRIAGE

—JUDGE SABATH

Noted Jurist Gives His Views on Evil of the Divorce

Chicago—(By The Associated Press)—Ten thousand divorce cases, which he has disposed of within the last four years, were the basis of advice on successful marriage in an address by Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior Court, Chicago, before the University of Michigan Alumni Club of Chicago.

The germ of divorce, he said, starts in the hearts of the couple long before their wedding day. This was Judge Sabath's advice:

To the husband I would say:

Make your wife a real partner.

Discuss your business problems with her.

Take her into your confidence.

Avoid relatives' interference.

Have children or adopt some.

Supply your wife with sufficient to maintain the household.

Work together, play together, and grow up together, and share responsibilities and pleasures alike.

To the wife:

Do not allow yourself to be treated as a weak dependent little thing.

Be not afraid to soil your hands.

Be not afraid of the really big thing in life, motherhood.

Make your husband assume the responsibility of your home life in cooperation with you, beyond financing it.

Do not make fun and tease your husband by idle flirtations, for you do not realize that you are stirring a fire that may eventually destroy you.

More than anything else, your husband wants to be the one man in your life. He wants you undivided affection. Show him that he has it. To both I would say:

Avoid heated quarrels. Do not carry up little difference until they accumulate. Speak out frankly to each other and stick to it until you reach an agreement.

Differences should be settled each day.

Sympathy, good humor, the desire for mutual understanding are the supporting pillars of the home.

One of the fixed rules of every household should be: good humor on parting in the morning, and a cheerful meeting in the evening.

Careful attention to the breakfast is sometimes a very helpful thing, too.

If a man and woman find it absolutely impossible to live together in harmony, it is a good plan for them to live apart a month or more.

Don't Regard It Evil

"Mind you I do not regard divorce as an evil. The large number of divorces is rather a manifestation of progress than of retrogression. It is one of the natural incidents to the emancipation of womanhood. The wife is no longer a chattel; she is no longer the subject of her lord; she is a free human being living and acting on terms of equality with her husband, and when that equal partnership becomes impossible or contrary to life under law is intolerable. It's natural and right that she should seek relief by dissolution. The tragedy lies in those facts which bring about impossible unions or the disruption of fully possible ones.

Marriage should be consummated early in life and while habits and character are still in the process of formation or example of adoption. The growing tendency for young men to delay marriage until they are in such financial circumstances as they regard safe for the venture is a misfortune. Too often, when those good financial circumstances have been reached, those who waited for them are spiritually in very bad circumstances.

As a matter of self preservation,

it is society's duty to stop joking about marriage and divorce, and begin to regard it as the most important institution in our civilization. Our growing generation must receive definite education on the subject.

"I am sorry for the woman who is robbed of the opportunity of working along with her husband in building up the necessary means for the maintenance of the home. She is cheated out of one of the romantic adventures that marriage has to offer. If the husband succeeds by his own effort, she simply turns out to be an expensive toy. Instead of a contributing member to the firm, she simply becomes one of its liabilities.

"I am not at all in sympathy with the modern argument that married people should, above everything else, preserve their own individualities. I do not think that a license should be issued on condition that it expires within thirty days. On the contrary, the license should not permit the couple to get married until thirty days have expired. They should have time to think the thing over.

"There are very few separations among the class of people who believe in God. As to divorce, I feel that our laws should be at once more liberal and more strict. All the states should have similar laws concerning marriage and divorce. The marriage ceremonies should be more impressive. The parents, if living, or the nearest relatives of both parties, or at least two competent witnesses should be required to be present at the marriage ceremony. Common law marriages should be abolished. The official or minister should be authorized to act only within the legal district, and his limit should be defined by statute. A compulsory system of state registration should be had. No marriage should be entered into in a state by a party residing and intending to continue to reside in another state or jurisdiction.

ROCKFORD HIGH SCHOOL TO HAVE
DANDY STADIUMContemplated Plant to Seat Over 8000
and a Track

Rockford—Buying a season ticket, and a stadium at the same time, athletic authorities and enthusiasts at the high school here are preparing to start work on one of the finest high school athletic plants in the state as soon as the football season is over. When completed, the Rockford plant is to include a stadium in the form of a horseshoe seating 8000 or more, a cinder track with 100 yards straight aways, a football practice field, a baseball diamond and a field house for athletics. The stands will be so constructed that a tier containing 8,000 seats more can be added whenever necessary, making a total capacity of 16,000.

The scheme for financing the stadium is unique. Cost of building the first 100 seats was estimated at $7,000. To care for this expense season tickets for the 1925 season costing $7 each were sold. Each athletic enthusiast was asked to "buy a ticket and build a seat." The response has been so large that it may be possible to erect more than 1000 as the initial unit. The Kiwanis club of Rockford sponsored the movement, and members of that organization have voted unanimously to see that the first section is erected on schedule.

Purchase of Kishwaukee park, formerly the home of Rockford's Three Eye baseball park, paved the way for the stadium last spring. Frank E. Jensen, superintendent of schools proposed the plan for financing the improvement. The stand will be built in the shape of a horseshoe and will be permanent, being made of concrete. The best ideas evolved in the construction of university stadiums will be collected and adapted to the smaller needs of a high school field. The structure will be available not only for high school athletics but for civic celebrations, spectacles and other athletic events.

LIVE PAPERS IN GREAT BUY-AT-HOME MOVEMENTTelegraph One of Many Big Country Papers
in the Campaign

The Waukegan (Ill.) Daily Sun is to be congratulated upon the splendid results it is accomplishing through its loyal co-operation and support of The National Buy-At-Home Movement. Their campaign to better the hearty backing of every citizen of that progressive town of 20,000 inhabitants—a town that is within a half-hour's ride of that great metropolitan city, Chicago, where almost anything under the sun can be bought.

The leading merchants, bankers, professional men, etc., of Waukegan are co-operating with the Daily Sun to the limit of their ability, in making this educational campaign a success. That their efforts are not proving futile is gleaned from the announcement recently issued from the office of the Daily Sun that, since the inauguration of their publicity campaign storekeepers and merchants, in general, report a brisk increase in business that cannot be ascribed to any other source than the newspaper campaign.

Among the announcements in the initial full-page Daily Sun advertisement of the "Buy-At-Home" movement were the following, which are worthy of the careful consideration of all persons and organizations interested in the National Buy-At-Home Movement throughout the country:

First of all, like a good physician who examines his patient to ascertain the cause of the illness, and finds it possible to remove the cause, the merchants in this campaign are anxious to determine the reason why so many people have acquired the habit of trading in neighboring cities. If it is due to poor stores, poor stocks, high prices, or any of the kindred reasons that go to make a town undesirable as a trading center, we should ask no further consideration, and this campaign might be considered useless.

But this is not the case. Waukegan can boast of a good stores and as good stock as is found in any city in the state of Illinois and the prices have always been less than would be paid in the big city stores. Flourishing industries and up-to-date industrial establishments of any city, of these, Waukegan has many, some ranking among the very best in the state.

But this city would have a much larger population today, with many more big industries, many added business blocks, scores of beautiful residences, and many more miles of modern city improvements, and your real estate would have been doubled in value, if all our citizens had been true to their home town; buying all their goods at home stores, boosting the home interests by spending their dollars at home during the past many years.

The profit of merchandise bought by our citizens from stores in other cities during this time would build a mammoth factory or mill employing thousands of men at high wages. Would you like to see such a condition in this city? Then—Buy At Home!

Should all the home-town newspapers and all the home-town merchants, business men, etc., in the country co-operate with the National Buy-At-Home Movement by instituting similar campaigns in their respective communities, one has a ready idea of how long the mail-order houses would flourish as they are now flourishing. This practice of sending out of town for merchandise that can just as well and just as cheaply be bought at home is fundamentally wrong, and every effort should be made to stamp out this cancerous practice that bids fair to ruin many towns unless it is universally thwarted through all the people making all their purchases in home-town stores.

Chronic laziness should in many cases be regarded as a disease, says a prominent London physician.

DRINK VARNISH

Vienna—A low-priced varnish which has proved unsatisfactory to buyers, is now being thrown onto the market in the form of an extremely palatable liquor, police investigation has revealed. Steps were taken to stop the sale of the strange beverage until it was found to be free from the need of pumping.

HERE'S SWIFT JUSTICE

London—Henry Carter married five wives within six months. When each of the women discovered the existence of the other wives they held a council of war and determined that the one who could fry the most pancakes in an hour would keep the husband.
The case was settled in this way and never was brought to the attention of the courts.

NEED OF APPLE CONSUMERS NOW BEFORE GROWER

Horticultural Society to Consider Consumer at State Meet

Springfield—Fruit growers of Illinois will grapple with the problem of suiting the needs of the ultimate apple consumer, at the 69th annual meeting of the Illinois State Horticultural society in Urbana, December 16 to 19, according to announcement here of Secretary H. W. Day, of Springfield.

Apples are now sent from the Illinois orchards in barrels of three bushel capacity. Such a receptacle, the farmers have learned, is too large for the needs and convenience of consumers, especially the apartment house dwellers. They are therefore meditating a more moderate sized "original package." Whether this package will be entirely new, or whether farmers will adopt some standard make of basket or box to pack their apples in, will be decided largely by convention discussions.

The convention will open Tuesday morning, December 16, with the annual address of President J. B. Pur-rows of Washington, D. C. on "The External Fruit Moth and Aphid." That afternoon, Prof. Laurenz Greene, of Lafayette, Ind., Prof. M. J. Dorsey of University of West Virginia, and Prof. W. A. Smith of Urbana, will speak. Prof. Smith's topic will be "Prevention of Apple Scald with Oil Paper."

Three more University of Illinois professors will appear Friday, Prof. H. W. Anderson with an address on "Fruit Disease Observations in 1924"; A. C. Vogele, with an address on pruning and trimming grapes, and F. E. Carver with an address on the growth of one-and two-year old trees.

William H. Stites of Henderson, Ky., will also speak Friday.

Indian Massacres in Illinois Caused Much Comment 124 Years Ago

Springfield—Uprisings and massacres by Illinois Indians drew the attention of the United States congress to the land that is now Illinois, just one hundred and twenty-four years ago, the first year that congress met in Washington, D. C. The ten years previously congress had met in Philadelphia.

This state had previously been a part of the Northwest territory, but from 1800 to 1809 it was part of Indiana territory.

Consequently, the first representative this state had when the government moved its headquarters to Washington, D. C., was the territorial delegate from Indiana—William Henry Harrison, who afterward became the first governor of Indiana. His report from his constituents in "Indiana," informed congressmen that the rangers in the Illinois country were hard to handle, and were continuing to alarm settlers by the frequency of small massacres.

In 1809, William Henry Harrison ceased representing Illinois. This state was made a territory in itself, but its representative in congress was appointed by the president. This condition continued only three years, when Illinois was made a second rate territory, with power to elect its own delegate. The first delegate so elected was Shadrach Bond, who later became Illinois' first governor.

HIS PRIVILEGE

Liverpool—A man who was taking pot shots with a revolver at the picture on his bureau was arrested for intoxication. When he told in court the story of how mercilessly the girl had betrayed him, he was released without punishment. Women in the audience took up a collection to buy him a bouquet of flowers before he left the court.

FARM OF MENTAL UNIT TO EARN LIVINGS URGED

Proposal Made at Illinois
Welfare Conference
In Moline Today

Moline, Ill., Nov. 24—Training of children to prevent them from becoming criminals and proper treatment of mental defectives are the principal subjects before social service and public welfare workers today according to various state and voluntary workers who are attending the annual Illinois Welfare Conference in Moline.

Five hundred leaders in philanthropic and social service work from all sections of Illinois and a number of national workers from outside the state are attending the conference.

The Leopold-Loeb trial was utilized by the progress made in psychiatric study of criminals, Judge Daniel P. Trude of the Chicago Municipal Court told the conference. He said he said is costing Chicago $15,000,000 a year.

Judge Trude urged establishment of a state farm colony where mentally deficient offenders could earn support for their families. Mental defectives as should be under surveillance throughout their lives. George E. Long of the Rock Island County Court pointed out the chief weakness in the present Illinois probation system and urged the Illinois Association of County and Probate Judges, to work for amendment to the law that would give county judges the right to fix the pay under reasonable limitations of probation officers. Under the present system, he said the Judge appoints but the board of supervisors fixes compensation, and it is difficult to secure good men.

Miss Jessie Blinford, director of the Chicago Juvenile Association, declared an exhaustive survey had shown that commercial vice and disease is common among boys and girls because of the absence of proper recreational facilities.

Dr. H. Douglas Singer of Chicago, one of the alienists who testified at the Leopold-Loeb trial, urged establishment by the state of places where feeble minded persons can be taught a useful occupation.

Crimes of passion are directly due to disturbance of endocrine glands, said Dr. Charles C. Chaplin, Decatur specialist, in a talk on "relation of glands to delinquency."

The conference will close tomorrow evening. Officers will be elected and the 1925 convention city named tomorrow morning.

New York—Poverty stalks both in Hell's Kitchen and the East Side. Crime breeds in both places. Both are bordered with waterfront romance and wharf ugliness. And there ends the parallel between New York's west side and east side tenement districts. You may walk for blocks along Eighth, Ninth and Tenth avenues and not find a music store. I know one now in Hell's Kitchen who shops an hour before he could find a coat string. At night there is gloominess throughout the Kitchen. Old men and tired women go to bed early there.

On the East Side, especially along Avenue A, you will find music stores crowded four and five to a block and all prospering. You will find little shops selling beautiful cloths and supplies for painting and drawing. You will hear song and laughter. There is something quickening to the pulse about it all.

New blood from old worlds is being infused constantly into the East Side. Most of the population of Hell's Kitchen represents the third and fourth generation of residents there.

Ten years ago in Cincinnati I interviewed Gunboat Smith at the Munroe Hotel. I wanted to know what he thought of the ministers who were trying to stop his fight with Jim Flynn. His answers furnished one of the most colorful interviews I ever had.

Just as I got back to the office Frank Hohl, notorious bandit, held up two banks, killed a policeman and was himself killed, all within an hour or so. The interview with Gunboat was crowded out of the paper.

Gunboat Smith then was perhaps the leading "white hope" in the prize fight game. Money came easy and he lived easy.

The other night I saw him keeping fight fans in line at Madison Square Garden, where he once was the attraction that drew real throngs.

Maybe some of the ministers back in Cincinnati can find a topic for a sermon in this little story.

Judge Richard T. Morrison, ex-surgeon at New York county has just died at the Grand Hotel. That's believed a record for continued residence at one hotel.

His hobby was to collect newspapers containing accounts of noted legal trials. So assiduous was he that when he died they stood in great piles seven and eight feet high, around his room.

See-sawing up and down Broadway I saw Eddie Cantor, passing like a dark shadow. Some day I'll get personal and ask him how much he

MORERNIZATION SIX OLD SHIPS WILBUR'S PLEA

Sec. of Navy Makes Recomendation in His Annual Report

Washington—Modernization of the six older battleships of the American fleet is essential, Secretary Wilbur declared in his annual report. "If our ratio of naval strength is to be maintained," he said, "we must have a breaking up of expert navy yards organizations the report warned."

The battleships, Wyoming, Florida, Utah and Arkansas were found "unsuited for fleet work" because of impaired boilers, the Secretary reported, but he said temporary repairs had been made on all except the Florida, which is still out of commission. He characterized the rebuking of these units as "a military necessity."

Declaring the scrapping program was progressing according to schedule, Secretary Wilbur predicted its completion well within the period allotted by the Washington conference agreements. Although the report was written before the filing of the recent injunction suit to prevent the unsanctioned target practice of the incomplete battleship Washington, the Secretary is understood to have decided to treat this subject in a special report sent to the House subcommittee on naval appropriations. Neither did he include in his annual report any recommendation for a change in the Navy's authorized personnel of $6,000.

The report omitted the annual study of the Navy General Board relating to supplementary construction required to round out the fleet, and made no direct reference to the program of ten cruisers and sundry auxiliary craft which failed of passage in the final hours last session. The Secretary is understood to have decided to treat this subject in a special report sent to the House subcommittee on naval appropriations. Neither did he include in his annual report any recommendation for a change in the Navy's authorized personnel of $6,000.

While the report of the General Board for the current year thus is withheld from publication, it is said in naval circles to have stressed the increasing necessity for stressed a construction program to correct deficiencies in the fleet which the board now prevents the United States from maintaining its proper ratio under the limitations treaty.

With respect to aircraft, Secretary Wilbur said the special board appointed to develop a policy had not completed its work, but had gone far enough to make certain that the Navy already recognizes the importance of the air arm to a modern fleet. The recent contract for a patrol plane capable of a sustained flight from San Diego to Honolulu is believed to have had more than casual connection with this study.

"The policy of maintaining the fleet on the Pacific Coast is approved and should be adhered to," the Secretary asserted. "I cannot but believe that the American navy is a great asset to all nations as a guarantee of peace and order."

The report called attention to the increasing shortage of officer personnel, declaring it already had become necessary to utilize young officers with limited service in responsible positions. It was urged that the allowance of midshipmen at Annapolis be increased so the capacity of the institution, but the Secretary said it would be far better to raise the requirements for graduation and so weed out weaker men than to lower the standard in order to keep a necessary minimum of new officers.

Jury is Called to Try Forbes and Thompson

Chicago, Nov. 24.—A panel of prospective jurors was called today for the trial of Col. Charles P. Forbes, former director of the Veterans Bureau and John W. Thompson, St. Louis and Chicago contractor, under indictment in connection with alleged irregularities in the administration of the bureau under the Forbes administration.

Attorneys for the defense appeared before Federal Judge Carpenter with motions for a consolidation of the indictment counts and for a list of the government witnesses which the defense sought to obtain. Whether the actual trial would be delayed until after Thanksgiving was uncertain.

The defendants were jointly charged with conspiracy to defraud the government and charges of receiving and giving a bribe were made against Forbes and Thompson respectively, in the indictments returned by the grand jury investigation which began before the February grand jury. The original indictments were supplanted by later indictments for technical reasons, objections by the defense were overruled some time ago and the trial set for today.

TURKS SMOKE PIPES

Constantinople—The pipe craze has swept Turkey. The sale of pipes in Constantinople alone has increased 200 per cent in the last four years, according to recent estimates. The pipe has become the most popular form of smoking almost over night.

Attention was called to the need of formulating a new congressional policy to control naval oil reserves, in the event that the governments suit against the present leases in Texas, Dome and California is carried to a successful verdict. In the meantime, the Secretary said, the reserves are being administered under a careful receivership.

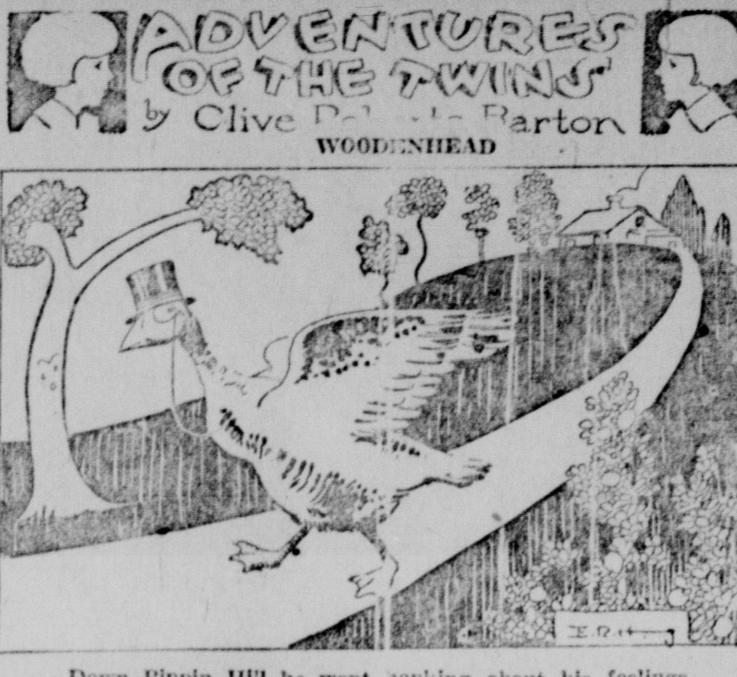

"The moral standard" of the service is at its highest, the report declared, "and the government is to be congratulated upon the devotion of the officers who have designed, built, managed and controlled its ships."

"The Navy is a great asset to the country," the Secretary asserted. "I cannot but believe that the American navy is a great asset to all nations as a guarantee of peace and order."

Down Pippin Hill he went honking about his feelings.

Down Pippin Hill he went honking about his feelings.

"Some say that I run up,
Or else that I run down,
Which mixes me most dreadfully.
For anyone with eyes can see,
I wouldn't move for the life of me,
If the house was burning down."

"I haven't feather or wing,
Though some say I'm a flight!
It's the silliest talk I've ever heard,
In no relation to a bird,
Or an airplane either, on my word,
I'm nailed down fast and tight."

"They talk about my head,
They speak about my foot,
Which puzzles me more each single day.
And I wonder why they talk that way,
If I've the things that people say,
I know not where they're put."

"Sometimes I'm one or ten,
But they speak of me in pairs,
Why I'm not scissors, I am not twins
Or fancy earrings, or gold cuff-pins!
Now try to be careful—watch out for your shiny.
At you chase down, or race down
the—"

That was the next riddle the Riddle Lady asked.

don't talk so much, please," begged the Riddle Lady.

"Why, the devil!" cried Goosy Gander. "I never was so insulted in all my life!"

And he went away wagging his tail like the rudder of a flying machine or propeller or whatever it is that makes it go.

Down Pippin Hill he went honking about his feelings until his voice got fainter and fainter in the distance and finally died away altogether.

"Now we can have some peace," said Slow slowly. "Mrs. Riddle Lady, would you mind saying it all over again. I don't remember much about it."

"I've guessed the answer," cried Nibble Jack. "It's a pair of stairs. No danger of my shins getting hurt. I take them always in one jump." Do be kind enough to move a b.t."

"I went up one pair of stairs," began Nancy.

"Just like me," said Jill.

"Oh don't begin that," said Nick.

"We want to hear more."

"Will you please say a riddle that doesn't rhyme?" asked Nancy.

"Why bless your heart. Of course I will," said the Riddle Lady. "I'll tell you a story and you can guess what it is."

"I hope it is about something to eat," said Tafty.

"Well, it is. I'll tell you that much," smiled the Riddle Lady. "But I'm not so sure that you would care for it much."

"Goosey Gander came crowding in just then and when the Riddle Lady had finished he laughed and laughed, I mean he honked and honked. "On,

I know that one!" he said. "It's simply too easy. Ha! Ha! At Why, I wouldn't even bother telling you what it is. But speaking of shiny, they lived in a green house. A funny house it was—quite long and narrow and not a window in it."

"Well, the six little Green boys grew and grew and grew and by and

"Ouch!" cried Larry to Barney.

"Now just see what you've done!"

"Ouch!" cried Barney to Dennis.

by they began to be crowded. They were so crowded they could scarcely move.

"And when they became crowded, they were quite uncomfortable. So the minute they became uncomfortable, they began to blame it on each other."

"Begorra, move over!" said Pat to Mike. "I'm so crowded I can't move, and he gave him a push with his shoulder."

"Pat's crowded and he's pushing," said Mike to Dennis. "You'll have to move over or I'll get smashed." And to Pat's pushing he added a little pushing of his own.

"Begorra!" said Dennis to Larry. "It's the life that's being pushed out of me. If you don't move over, Larry, I'll be nothing but a lot of mush. Do be kind enough to move a b.t."

"And to Pat's and Mike's pushing Dennis added a little pushing of his own."

"By that time poor Larry was almost flat. He had scarcey breath enough left to say to Barney, 'Please move over.' But just the same he added his own little bit of pushing to Pat's and Mike's and Dennis' pushing, and poor Barney was pushed against Jerry, the last brother, until Jerry couldn't stand it at all."

"He was right against the end of the little green house and with his five brothers all pushing against him as hard as they could, suddenly—pop! went the wall and flew Jerry."

"Right after him came Barney and Dennis and Larry and Pat and Mike. "And what do you suppose?"

"They all landed right in the middle of a pot of boiling water."

"Ouch!" cried Barney. "Now see what you have done!"

"Ouch!" cried Larry to Barney.

"Now just see what you've done!"

"Ouch!" cried Barney to Dennis.

"Now see what you've done. Stupid!"

"And so it went on. Dennis blamed Mike and Mike blamed Pat. Which was at it should be, for Pat had started it all."

"Isn't it just like people to blame their troubles on each other!"

"But they boiled and boiled, the six brothers did, and after what dinner was served, little John ate them up."

"I know what they were Six greeeps," said Nick.

And he got the prize.

Gifts of Utility For 70 years this store has been the Christmas shopping place of lots of people who believe in gifts of utility.

Today most things of utility have lines of beauty, too. A combination of these two qualities makes an ideal gift. It is well exemplified in our beautiful Casseroles, Salad Bowls, Serving Trays, and many other pieces for the table. Even a Mirro Aluminum Kettle has lines of beauty and a marvelous finish.

Even the many fine Tools and other mechanical things and the Toys we sell have great beauty in their structural lines, which is almost as appealing as the usefulness of the articles. The "hang" or "feel" of mechanical tool or a Gun, Fishing Rod, Boxing Glove, etc., which is built right, enters into one's appreciation as much as looks and finish.

This store is full of things which have these subtle qualities that compel appreciation. They are not necessarily expensive.
